Get Published Today

The Secret to Getting Published ... Now!

SAN DIEGO, CALIFORNIA – For decades, New York Publishers have controlled the game, and aspiring authors have been at their mercy. No more! With the advent of print-on-demand (POD), authors are rewriting history. More and more authors are beating a path to their virtual doors and finding that it's easier than ever to see their work in print. The secret lies in POD publishing where authors can get to market with their books within six to nine months. What's more, they can print books in relatively small quantities at economic rates. There's no more requirement to print 3,000 copies of a book and tie up your money.

Penny C. Sansevieri, renowned author and internationally recognized media relations professional, has taken all the guesswork out of the publishing puzzle. In her latest book, No More Rejections - Get Published Today; An Insider's Guide to Publishing Success, Sansevieri walks the author through selecting a publisher as well as the publishing process.

Packed with tips, strategies and insider information, Get Published Today will turn any writer into a published author in record time. Sansevieri offers individual profiles of some of the hottest names in POD, and gives you her insider's view into individual publishing programs, the offers and the future of these companies. This remarkable guide is like chatting with a publishing assistant right in your living room.

In addition to offering nuggets of publishing gold advice, Sansevieri also shares marvelous marketing tips and strategies, and a unique timeline geared to help any author plan and control the various phases of the publishing process.

"The only book you'll ever need to get published today. This guide is the treasure map to striking publishing gold." Eric Gelb, Editor PublishingGold.com, Inc.
